Problem Version 1.0.1 of the Rogue Wave net.h++ libraries, for networks communications programming, has been received. We have purchased a 25 user site license for this product. It needs to be installed in the EDF. The 25 users that are to be allowed to use this product need to be identified.
Proposed Solution The source code for net.h, 25 Users manuals, and one installation guide are being held by Paula Aiello of EDS. Gil Smith should install the source code in the automounted location (/tools/rogue) that is used for our other RW libraries. After this, Dmitri Schoeman should provide Gil with Makefiles that are to be used in the compilation of these libraries. Gil can then do the compilations from the Makefiles that have been provided to him. /tools/rogue/rw/net - contains header files /tools/rogue/netsrc - contains net.h source code and Makefiles /tools/rogue/lib - will contain net.h libraries The releases have been asked to provide the names of the authorized users to Jack Eisenstein, who will record them and mediate if the count exceeds 25. These are the users that should check the Users Manuals out of the ECS library.
